Overview

Take a day trip to Islamic Cairo in Egypt, as it's a World Heritage site that has been designated by UNESCO for its rich architectural legacy. An Cairo day tour is devoted to a guided walking tour of the oldest and most interesting part of Cairo's medieval Islamic town with its wealth of the finest woodcarving, brass ornamentation, and high-quality tile work that even outshine the more beautiful mosques. You will either visit during your Egypt tour the magnificent Sultan Hasan Mosque from the famous Citadel of Saladin or lose yourself in the hundreds of tiny stores of the Khan Al-Khalili Bazaar.

Itinerary

Day

Trip to explore Islamic Cairo sights

A comfortable hotel pickup enables your Cairo day tour to begin as your tour guide welcomes you to ride in a private air-conditioned vehicle.

Citadel of Saladin & Mosque of Muhammad Ali

The Citadel of Saladin stands first on your agenda because it is a historic Islamic fortress that commands magnificent views across all of Cairo. The powerful structure constructed in the 12th century served both as Egypt's royal residence and protected the city of Cairo from attacks. The Mosque of Muhammad Ali, which people call Alabaster Mosque because of its white marble walls, is another stop inside the Citadel.

Sultan Hassan Mosque

The Sultan Hassan Mosque stands as Cairo's largest and most renowned architectural mosque among all the mosques in the city. People have admired this mosque built in the 14th-century Mamluk period for its enormous dimensions and complex decorative details as well as its majestic Mamluk architectural design.

Rifai Mosque

A short walk from the previous stop leads visitors to view the historical Rifai Mosque. The early twentieth-century mosque serves as both a burial place and an architectural landmark because royals from the Egyptian royal family are buried here.

Khan El Khalili Bazaar

Your guided journey will conclude at Khan El Khalili Bazaar following a visit to both mosques since this historical market has operated since the 14th century. Traverse the tight corridors throughout the Khan El Khalili Bazaar while admiring the stalls featuring Egyptian handicrafts such as handmade jewels alongside spices and fabrics along with memorabilia and numerous additional products.

Your driver will return you to your hotel after your Egypt day tour as a part of their professional service.
